How many rooms?! This 1900s Queen Anne Victorian home has wood floors and recessed lighting throughout and showcases a two-story bay window that floods the home with natural light. The living room and sitting room can open up to each other to create a grand entertainment room for your holiday parties; and with central vac, cleanup is a breeze. If you need an office or even two, the first floor has you covered and features a kitchenette and pantry area - the perfect snack and coffee bar. Head upstairs to the kitchen using either of the two staircases and find that there's plenty of cabinets and counter space for meal prep. The main bedroom flaunts custom built-in bookshelves in the curvature of the large bay window, proving to be the perfect reading nook.
